2. Be aware of all marked exits from your area and building. Know the routes out of the building.
3. If necessary or directed to do so, activate the building alarms. Caution: Some building alarms ring only in the building – you may need to notify safety and security or other outside agencies by phone.

- If the phone system is not functioning, the email system may still be working and may be utilized for communication.
- If the utility failure is the result of an emergency condition please follow the procedure for the specific emergency.

Natural Disasters

Southwest Baptist University is near 2 fault lines. The Nemaha Uplift runs along the western border of Missouri and the New Madrid Fault is centered in southeast Missouri. Although these fault lines are located a distance from the campus, a major earthquake could severely effect SBU. The last major earthquakes in Missouri were between December 1811 and March 1812. During a 3-month period there were 1850 tremors and three earthquakes over 8.3 on the Richter scale. Another major earthquake is expected in the next 50 years.

In the event of an earthquake:

- Remain calm
- Seek shelter under a desk or in a doorway. Stay away from glass, shelves and heavy equipment.
- After the initial shockwave, evacuate the building and do not go back in. Report missing persons to rescue workers. Be prepared for aftershocks.
- If outside, avoid buildings, trees and power lines. Report gas leaks and lines that are down.

Severe Weather / Tornado

In the event of severe weather conditions, you should monitor local weather. The department of safety and security will notify the campus of threatening weather when possible to do so.

You can monitor the weather on local television and radio stations. Other options include internet weather sites and NOAA weather radios.

Tornado Watch means weather conditions are favorable to the formation of tornadoes.

In the event that a severe weather or tornado warning is issued:

- Stay calm
- Warn persons in your area of the threat
- Seek shelter and remain there until the threat is over
